

Madison Shaftic, M.A.

Academic Advisor 1

Madison Shaftic is currently one of the Academic Advisors for the College of STEM, focusing on Engineering and Engineering Technology majors. Originally from Pennsylvania, she earned a Bachelor of Science in Psychology from the University of Pittsburgh with minors in Studio Art and Gender, Sexuality, and Women's Studies. She then went on to earn a Master of Art in Student Affairs from Carlow University. Madison's previous higher education experience includes being a Graduate Assistant in the Disabilities Services Office while completing her Master's at Carlow University, as well as working as a College and Career Success Coach at State College of Florida for 1.5 years. When not at work, Madison enjoys spending time with her family and cat Buddy, all things horror, creating art, and adding to her different collections.